Summer Reading at MSU

Have some extra time on your hands and want to find a good summer read? Check out the 2nd annual MSU Summer Reading List. Individuals from all four MSU campuses have submitted their suggestions for what they think are great books. A full list can be found at <http://guides.lib.montana.edu/summerreading>

Shakespeare in the Summer

Discover or reacquaint yourself with Shakespeare this summer. Whether a fan of his poetry, comedies, tragedies, or histories, you can find them all at the library. Here are just a few. More can be found in the PR 2800s on the 2nd floor or stop by the reference desk for assistance locating your favorite Shakespeare work.

Merry Wives of Windsor (Comedy)—PR2826.A2C74 1997 2nd Floor

Shakespeare's Sonnets (Poetry)—PR2848.A2.D86 2010 2n Floor

Richard III (History)—PR2821.A2S54 2009 2nd Floor

Romeo and Juliet (Tragedy) - PR2831.A2L64 2002 2nd Floor

Montana Shakespeare in the Park

Interested in Shakespeare but not quite ready to commit to reading one of his works? Montana Shakespeare in the Park will be performing two of his plays this summer.

June 15-18: Trickery and deception brings one couple together and nearly tears another one apart in the comedy, Much Ado About Nothing

June 22-25: What do three caskets, a pound flesh and three couples in love have in common? Watch The Merchant of Venice to find out.

There is no admission charge for the plays and they begin at 8pm in the MSU Grove

Shakespeare Quiz - Match the character to the play.

Rat-a-tat-tat Bang Bang Bang

There's no way to sugarcoat this. It is going to be noisy in the library for the next few months. Bring your headphones, grab some earplugs at the Circulation Desk and find a nook on the 3rd and 4th floors if you need a quiet study space.

The noise will be worth it. Come Fall, we will have a spiffy, shiny, and comfy technology rich work space just for you.
