Quiet Study Areas

With the end of the semester approaching, you may need a quiet place to study. The 3rd and 4th Floors are designated quiet areas. There are plenty of carrels and outlets to plug-in your laptops.

You can also study in Special Collections during the hours they are open (Monday-Friday from 8am-5pm).

Hitting dead ends when it comes to research?

With the semester in full swing and projects being assigned, don't wait until the last minute to get the research help you need.

Set up a RAP appointment with a reference librarian. Whether it is a solo or group project, a librarian can help you explore search options, design research strategies and locate sources. Stop by the reference desk to complete a RAP form or fill out a form online at www.lib.montana.edu/forms/rapreq.php.

Digital Collections at MSU Library

The Library's Digital Access and Web Services (DAWS) team digitizes documents and makes them accessible to you in an online environment. To view photographs of MSU in its early days, check out the MSU Library Digital Historical Photograph Collection. For images of southwest Montana's people and places during the late 19th and early 20th centuries, visit the Thomas Brook Photographs Collection. The James Willard Schultz Photographs Collection includes photographs of Montana's Native American people and places. Visit these collections at www.lib.montana.edu/digital/.

Thanksgiving Quiz - How much do you know about this holiday?
