SPECIAL COLLECTIONS AT MSU LIBRARY

Ah, summer. Fishing, floating, sunshine, and...Special Collections. Fascinating at any time of the year, Merrill G. Burlingame Special Collections at MSU Library is the place to find wide-ranging information on select subjects including Montana history, Montana State University, and Yellowstone National Park.

In addition, Special Collections has cultivated an incredible trout and salmonid collection, which contains thousands of works on topics such as angling, biology, politics, and much more. These resources are available for use on the premises, and the Burton K. Wheeler Reading Room on the second floor is a quiet and comfortable place to dive into the trout and salmonid collection.

The regular hours for Special Collections are Monday-Friday, 8 am- 5 pm.

YOU ARE MY SUNSHINE

“Busy old fool, unruly Sun,
 Why dost thou thus,
 Through windows, and through curtains call on us?”
 -From John Donne’s “The Sun Rising”

The summer sun is shining. Did you know...

- Lightning can reach temperatures five times hotter than the sun.
- It takes about eight minutes for light from the sun to reach Earth.
- The sun’s diameter is just over 864 thousand miles.

TIP OF THE MONTH

Elevator improvements are underway! Facilities Services is rebuilding the motor, and the public elevator will be available for use again after August 15.

In the meantime, please come to the Borrow Desk for information on special services. Our staff elevator can be used to access additional levels, and your library staff is available to escort you to other floors.
